Subscription: One year, $3; one month, 25 cts.; single copy, 1 cent.

Members of the Publishers' Press.—The latest telegraphic news from all parts of the world are received by the Daily Times up to the hour of going to press.

Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Published Every Weekday Afternoon.

Entered at the postoffice at Barre as second class matter.

TUESDAY, JUNE 7, 1904

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

3,175

When you buy cloth, you pay for it by the yard. When you buy sugar, you pay for it by the pound. When you buy advertising, you pay for it by the 1000 circulation.

When you buy advertising space in Barre, you get the lowest rates per 1000 circulation and the best returns from the Daily Times. Its advertising rates per 1000 circulation are but two-thirds what they are elsewhere in Barre.

Are you saving that one-third by advertising in the Times?

The silence of the gubernatorial possibilities is quite Parkeresque.

That arch enemy, adulterated Main street dust, will now subside.

The crop of bankruptcies continues apace in Vermont, reminding us that where you cut or won't pay your bills there is a wide loop-hole.

Without "Johnny" Shea, Burlington's city council will not be the same. For ten years Alderman Shea was a power which had to be reckoned with in all matters, civil and political, in the Queen city.

A man has just died in Rutland who was said to have the fewest enemies and the greatest number of friends of any man in that city. He was Col. Joel C. Baker, and the tribute that is being paid to him by the press of Rutland enables us to realize the real worth of the man. The Rutland News says: "In the highest sense of the word Col. Baker was one of the most successful men with whom the people of this community have ever been brought into contact." Would there were very many more of the same stamp of men!

The Republican caucuses in Rutland county seem to have sunk the governorship nomination into comparative insignificance and to have made the lieutenant governor nomination of primal importance. In nearly every caucus thus far the delegates have been instructed for Dr. Mead for the second position on the ticket and are uninstructed for the first position. This is on account of Rutland county's support for its "favorite son" for the second position. And if he doesn't get a hearty endorsement in his own county, where will Dr. Mead get it?

DO NOT FAVOR REPEAL.

As the various caucuses are being held throughout the state and the usual grist of candidates are presenting themselves for "consideration" by the voters, there is one matter which, it is being insisted, must be made clear. That is regarding the retention of the local option law, passed two years ago, on the statute books of the state. The voters are demanding to know the positions of the candidates on this matter of vital importance, and it is noted that very many of the candidates now before the people have signified their belief that to be given a thorough trying-out, the local option law must be allowed to stand for another two years. Men, even though they are not supporters of the law, recognize the fact that the short trial that has been given local option has not shown entire success or entire failure, and they are broad enough to give it a further exemplification. Dr. Mead of Rutland, who won out in the Republican caucus in that city Saturday night, supposedly by the aid of the prohibitionists, has declared publicly that he does not favor a repeal of the law at the coming legislative session. Candidates for offices of less importance in other sections have announced a similar determination, showing unmistakably whether the trend of public sentiment is. Give the local option law a further trial.

LAW POINTS.

Where a note executed to a firm was assigned to the purchasing partner by parol on dissolution the retiring partner was a necessary party to an action against the maker by the assignee (76 S. W. Rep., 127).

The usual custom of collecting the purchase money of goods under a contract of sale between parties resident of different cities by draft will not govern the express provisions of a contract fixing a mode of payment (864 Atl. Rep., 625).

An order on a third party taken for a pre-existing debt and a receipt therefor reciting that it is taken in full payment is not an absolute payment unless the party receiving it expressly agrees to receive it at his own risk (95 N. W. Rep., 677).

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

The Bradford National Bank opened its doors for regular business Wednesday, June 1.

The Congregational church at Johnson has received a legacy of $500 from Mrs. Wakedfield in memory of her father.

Rural free delivery route No. 2 will be started from the post office at East Hardwick June 15. The route will cover a territory of twenty-three miles.

Rev. J. C. Bodwell has resigned as pastor of the Congregational church at Lyndonville to take effect Sept. 1. He has been pastor of the church over 17 years, during which time a parsonage has been built and 100 persons added to the church membership.

The Masons of St. Johnsbury are planning on erecting a Masonic building in the near future. The location has not yet been decided upon but the committee is now considering several sites suitable for building. Should the block be erected it will be the most modern building in town and have all the best, up-to-date conveniences which would command the best rentals from tenants. A block could probably be erected for about $35,000, including cost of lot.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Warren Starkevant celebrated their golden wedding at Danville yesterday, giving a turkey dinner to their children and a reception to the townspeople in the evening. They were married at Mehoopany, Pa. June 1854, and have recently come to Danville to live. Mr. Starkevant's mother lacked two months of being a centenarian and Mrs. Starkevant is one of three in a family of seven children who have celebrated their golden wedding.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Perfectly Frank.
To be perfectly frank with you,
I never can rightly see
Why when you're an unpleasant thing
to say,
You are "perfectly frank" with me.
—Town and Country.

What Stumps Him So Much.
"In what sense," asked the teacher,
"do we look upon George Washington
as the Father of His Country?"
"In the 2 cents, ma'am," ventured
Tommy Tucker, seeing that no one else was prepared to answer. —Chicago Tribune.

Put His Foot In It.
A girl, when the weather was gloomy,
Went out with a fellow to gad some.
All was sweet as a dream;
Till he mentioned ice cream;
Then she sighed, "Oh, I wish that I had some." —Pitts City Argus.

A Bad Habit.
He—It is hard to rid oneself of the habit of years.
She—Good gracious! Who is so foolish as to have such a habit? I haven't had a birthday in a decade! —New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Pessimistic.
Though "all things come to him who waits."
It does not make us glad.
"All things" are not worth waiting for.
Since most of them are bad.
—Baltimore News.

She Would Assist.

Mr. Moneybags—It's been suggested that I give a chair to one of the universities.
Mrs. Moneybags—May I select it when you're ready?

GOWN GOSSIP.

The newest gowns are ornamented with dots of the same color.

White canvas shoes will be worn as usual with white skirt waists.

Unless the material matches the skirt in color white is the most fashionable for separate waists.

Fine cotton embroideries are more fashionable than lace, although lace is used for fancy designs, medallions and ruffles.

In the history of millinery laces have never been used so much. Eyelet embroidery and lace ruchings are combined on hats of white or cream straw. For veils chantilly lace is again coming into fashion. Many of these, as well as other materials, are so draped as to form long, broad ends and are worn loose over the face.

Some fashionable women are wearing feathered underskirts. The new 1830 walking suits need some stiffness if one wishes to be up to date. Perhaps hoops will make their appearance next. —New York Post.

TRAIN AND TRACK.

The average mileage of an English locomotive is 40,000 miles a year and of an American locomotive 110,000 a year.

All fast trains on the Siberian railway have movable seats, which serve for sleepers. For these there is no extra charge.

Experiments made by the scientists appointed for the purpose by the French government show that the resistance of the atmosphere to the motion of a high speed train often amounts to half the total resistance which the locomotive must overcome.

As many as fourteen different gauges are represented on the 22,000 miles of street railway tracks operated in Great Britain. Less than 85 per cent of the total are of the standard gauge of 4 feet 8 1/2 inches. About 12 1/2 per cent of the mileage have the 5 feet 3 inches broad gauge.

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

The Methodist year book for 1904 reports a gain of nearly a thousand churches during the last year.

Rev. W. W. Moore has been elected president of the Union Theological seminary at Richmond, Va. For some time he has been chairman of the faculty.

The pulpit behind which Jonathan Edwards preached many a time has been restored and placed in the First Congregational church at Stockbridge, Conn.

Rev. Daniel Henshaw of Providence, R. I., recently celebrated his fifty years as pastor of All Saints' church. He was the first New England clergyman to have a male choir.

THE ROYAL BOX.

The youthful Princess Victoria of Wales is being taught to ride astride. Queen Wilhelmina, who is the niece of the Duchess of Albany, is fond of collecting Japanese curios.

Princess Henry of Battenberg has considerable skill in the almost obsolete art of illuminating. Among Queen Victoria's favorite volumes were a copy of Thomas a Kempis' "Imitation" and a superb autograph album, both of which were illuminated by her daughter.
